ODIHR's Key Observation

ODIHR recognizes Andorra's efforts to report its hate crime information and statistics to ODIHR. However, based on the available information, it observes that Andorra's hate crime recording and statistics do not sufficiently distinguish hate crimes from other crimes. In addition, ODIHR observes that Andorra would benefit from raising awareness among and building the capacity of law enforcement and criminal justice officials about hate crimes.

Official Data

Police figures include cases of insult, discrimination and incitement to hatred or violence, and thus include cases that fall outside the OSCE definition of hate crime. Data on the application of the aggravating circumstance provision (Article 30.6) is not collected. Figures on prosecuted and sentenced cases include physical assaults.
