ODIHR's Key Observation

ODIHR recognizes Kyrgyzstan's efforts to report its hate crime information and data to ODIHR. However, based on the available information, it observes that Kyrgyzstan's hate crime statistics do not sufficiently distinguish hate crimes from other crimes, while also not recording thebias motivations of hate crimes. In addition, ODIHR observes that Kyrgyzstan would benefit from raising awareness among and building the capacity of law enforcement and criminal justice officials to address hate crimes.

Official Data

The police records include 57 cases recorded under Article 330 (Incitement of racial, ethnic, national, religious, or interregional hatred), and which therefore fall outside the OSCE hate crime definition. No cases were recorded under the hate crime provisions. The number of sentenced cases include 13 cases sentenced under Article 330 (Incitement of racial, ethnic, national, religious, or interregional hatred), and which therefore fall outside the OSCE hate crime definition.
