ODIHR's Key Observation

ODIHR recognizes Slovenia's efforts in training prosecutors in the area of hate crime. However, based on the available information, it observes that the law enforcement agencies of Slovenia have not recorded the bias motivations behind hate crimes. In addition, Slovenia would benefit from reviewing its existing legal framework in order to ensure that bias motivations can be effectively acknowledged and appropriate penalties can be imposed on the perpetrators.

Official Data

The records data presented here exclusively offences under Article 297 of the Slovenian Criminal Code (Public incitement to hatred, violence or intolerance) which may include hate speech offences falling outside of the OSCE's definition of hate crime.

National Developments

In March 2021, the General State Prosecutor ordered the transformation of a working group on hate speech (established in 2018), which had earlier prepared a monitoring hate crime definition, into a working group on hate speech and hate crime. Same prosecutors that were already specialized in hate speech will now be trained in, and then specialise on hate crime.
